RDK-V Automation and Testing

Test automation increases the overall software efficiency and ensures robust software quality. This section describes tools that can effectively execute automated test cases, and help in comparing actual and expected results.

The automation testing tool used in RDK is Test Development Kit (TDK)